MCE Deepwater Development Conference, Copenhagen, 31 March –
2 April 2009

Maersk Oil is pleased to be hosting the 2009 MCE Deepwater Development Conference in Copenhagen.

Fueled by recent significant deepwater discoveries, the industry's attention on deepwater developments has never been more in focus.

The MCE Deepwater Development Conference aims to bring together the people and the technology required to drive the necessary knowledge sharing and technical innovation to continue the successful development of these challenging reservoirs in the most efficient manner.

We see this event as an opportunity to reinforce our commitment to developing our deepwater profile. We also recognise this event as an excellent opportunity for the industry to develop and strengthen relationships throughout the value chain with host governments, operators and the contracting/supply industry.

We thank those involved with organising this event and look forward to working with the Conference Committee on the 2009 programme. We sincerely hope that you and the readers of this letter will be encouraged to attend and we look forward to seeing you in Copenhagen.

Yours sincerely

Anders Damgaard
Head of International PPD, Technology and Innovation
