Total is delighted to be hosting “MCE Deepwater Development 2012” in Paris and looks forward to welcoming all the international attendees to CNIT, La Défense, in the heart of the business district of Paris.

This event, as in previous years, will provide a great opportunity for people involved in offshore deepwater projects and developments around the world either from Suppliers/contractors or from Oil companies to discover the latest technologies, trends and techniques that the industry has implemented or is developing.

It will also afford individual contractors and vendors the opportunity to demonstrate their latest technology and capabilities.

For Total, it allows us to enhance our position in the offshore industry, showing our commitment to further the safe and clean development of oil and gas in deepwater environments through technology advancement.

We look forward to seeing you and meeting you there!

Yours sincerely,
